

Britain First

No. 1. 4th Feb., 1971

The Voice of the British People

Fortnightly Price 5d/2p

THIS IS YOUR PAPER!

BLACK CRIME SCANDAL BLOWS UP

'We hushed it up'—Paper

"We want a newspaper that presents the Nationalist case, a paper that's interesting, newsy, and easy to read. The kind of paper we can give to our friends to prove to them that the way we think is the way they think. We want it to appear as frequently as possible so that it keeps up with the news. And we want it at the cheapest possible price."

That's what you've been demanding for a long time.

So here it is: the first issue of BRITAIN FIRST.

BRITAIN FIRST supports the National Front, Britain's biggest patriotic party.

It is YOUR paper. If you've got something to say, tell us. We want to hear from you. Send your letters, information, ideas and local press clippings to us. We'll do our best to publish.

This way, we'll build a paper that says what you think... what the British people think.

A LOCAL NEWSPAPER has admitted that it hushed up the fact that coloureds were responsible for a big increase in violent crime. In revealing the facts, it has laid bare the scandal of political pressure on the police to ignore the problem.

The newspaper, the South London Press, owned up to its deliberate policy of hushing up coloured crime in an amazing editorial sparked off by an official report by social workers of Lambeth Council.

This report gave details about the marked tendency towards robbery by young blacks who found themselves unable to find jobs when they left school.

The South London Press, the largest local newspaper in Britain, described the report as "one of the most alarming news stories to emerge". So alarming was it that the paper felt it could no longer pull the wool over its readers' eyes.

"PLAYED DOWN"

politically-motivated cranks, whose campaign was given credence and respectability by the South London Press, "watch-dog groups" of social workers and clergymen followed the police patrols and generally harrassed the police in the execution of their duty.

A little credit is due to the South London Press for going some way in making amends for its part in the business by exposing the sordid political manoeuvrings for what they were. It said:

"The police themselves were angered by this suggestion of partiality and pointed out, with considerable justification, that they had successfully achieved a good relationship with the black communities and that there was a considerable danger of these relationships being exacerbated by political militants seeking to exploit the primary duty of the police — to prevent crime."

WITHDRAWN

As a result of the anti-police campaign, the special patrols were withdrawn. It was then that the robberies, which had been virtually curtailed by the patrols, started again and increased to their former proportions.

It is thanks to the perseverance and good sense of the police that special patrols have again started. The result: crime figures in the area have declined and the police are

Contd. on page 2, Column 5.

REDS AT F.O. -SOREF

SOVIET RUSSIA had infiltrated the Foreign Office and Communists appeared to have infiltrated television, Mr. Harold Soref, Tory MP for Ormskirk, said recently.

"It is notoriously difficult for anybody holding right-wing views to get a job with the BBC," he told Manchester Polytechnic Conservative Association.

Mr. Soref criticised the BBC for presenting Mr. Rudi Dutschke, "the professional, if resting revolutionary," after Parliament had made it evident that it supported the Home Secretary in ridding this country of an obvious potential security danger.

UNDESIRABLE

Every undesirable element and activity, whether pornography, subversion, obscenity, or depravity, was being publicised on television.

Regular listeners to the "World at One" would be familiar with such Leftist hobby horses as Vietnam, Rho-appear as frequently as possible so that it keeps up with the news. And we want it at the cheapest possible price."

That's what you've been demanding for a long time.

So here it is: the first issue of BRITAIN FIRST.

BRITAIN FIRST supports the National Front, Britain's biggest patriotic party.

It is YOUR paper. If you've got something to say, tell us. We want to hear from you. Send your letters, information, ideas and local press clippings to us. We'll do our best to publish.

This way, we'll build a paper that says what you think . . . what the British people think.

There's another way you can help. BRITAIN FIRST will appear fortnightly to begin with. But we all want to see a patriotic weekly paper.

So here's a pledge. BRITAIN FIRST will appear weekly when we build a circulation to ensure that it does. You can help by ordering as many copies as possible. We'll help by cutting the price right down according to how many copies you order.

Terror book

ONE of the most frightening books ever to be published in America may be published in Britain soon.

The Anarchists Cook Book contains details on how to make bombs and booby traps, conduct urban terrorism and sabotage, kill effectively and make dangerous drugs in the kitchen.

Yet British lawyers say there is nothing to prevent the book being published here and several firms have shown interest in the book.

up'—Paper

A LOCAL NEWSPAPER has admitted that it hushed up the fact that coloureds were responsible for a big increase in violent crime. In revealing the facts, it has laid bare the scandal of political pressure on the police to ignore the problem.

The newspaper, the South London Press, owned up to its deliberate policy of hushing up coloured crime in an amazing editorial sparked off by an official report by social workers of Lambeth Council.

This report gave details about the marked tendency towards robbery by young blacks who found themselves unable to find jobs when they left school.

The South London Press, the largest local newspaper in Britain, described the report as "one of the most alarming news stories to emerge". So alarming was it that the paper felt it could no longer pull the wool over its readers' eyes.

"PLAYED DOWN"

Talking about the coloured crime rate in the area, the South London Press said:

"This trend has been noted as long ago as a year by the local police and by this newspaper. Because of the delicate nature of race relations in areas like Lambeth that have high immigrant populations, we deliberately played down the ethnic origins of these bands of youngsters who roam the streets and rob passers-by, often with violence or the threat of violence."

After this shocking admission, the paper went on to take the lid off the whole business. And what a scandal it uncovered. It told of how police were successfully combatting coloured thugs until pressure from liberals and left-wing extremists forced them to withdraw.

SWIFT ACTION

The police had taken swift action to fight the problem by drafting in special patrols with stop-and-search powers. They were a huge success until fraudulent complaints of "police brutality" and "racial discrimination" were made.

This led to local busybodies and left-wing militants starting an anti-police campaign. Because of the howlings of these politically-motivated cranks, whose campaign was given credence and respectability by the South London Press, "watch-dog groups" of social workers and clergymen followed the police patrols and generally harassed the police in the execution of their duty.

A little credit is due to the South London Press for going some way in making amends for its part in the business by of partiality and pointed out, with considerable justification, that they had successfully achieved a good relationship with the black communities and that there was a considerable danger of these relationships being exacerbated by political militants seeking to exploit the primary duty of the police — to prevent crime.

Police caught this black thug — but how many more get away through political pressure?

WITHDRAWN

As a result of the anti-police campaign, the special patrols were withdrawn. It was then that the robberies, which had been virtually curtailed by the patrols, started again and increased to their former proportions.

It is thanks to the perseverance and good sense of the police that special patrols have again started. The result: crime figures in the area have declined and the police are to have infiltrated television, Mr. Harold Soref, Tory MP for Ormskirk, said recently.

Contd. on page 2, Column 5.

"It is notoriously difficult for anybody holding right-wing views to get a job with the BBC," he told Manchester Polytechnic Conservative Association.

Mr. Soref criticised the BBC for presenting Mr. Rudi Dutschke, "the professional, if resting revolutionary," after Parliament had made it evident that it supported the Home Secretary in ridding this country of an obvious potential security danger.

UNDESIRABLE

Every undesirable element and activity, whether pornography, subversion, obscenity, or depravity, was being publicised on television.

Regular listeners to the "World at One" would be familiar with such Leftist hobby horses as Vietnam, Rhodesia, and Greece. On the BBC's attitude to race, Mr. Soref said that no programme had ever appeared exposing anti-white prejudices or activities in America, Africa, or Britain.

SABOTAGED

On strikes Mr. Soref commented: "Not during the darkest days of the war had Hitler successfully sabotaged the royal mail. Refuse was collected and electricity available in spite of devastation and bombs. Where Nazis have failed a relative handful of politically motivated men were 'experimenting in holding the nation to ransom by what amounts to internal subversion.'"

Red churchmen howl: 'We've been rumbled'

THE decision of the World Council of Churches to give money to Black terrorists in South Africa has boomeranged on them. They are now beginning to realise what a clanger they have dropped.

Until the widely criticised decision, liberals and crypto-communists in South Africa had been meeting success in undermining the country by left-wing propaganda under the guise of Christian teaching.

Now South Africans have wised up. The World Council of Churches representative in South Africa, Mr. John Rees, has complained: "We have received a tremendous setback. Our work is regarded with suspicion and the progress of missionary work (sic) has been hampered."

Patriots halt race treason

Ken Taylor

Stop hating S. Africa Reds told

MORE THAN 120 members of the National Front brought a touch of sanity to a dangerous meeting in January.

The meeting, attended by 1,500 people, had been organised at the Central Hall, Westminster, to foment hatred against South Africa and the National Front members called for justice and fair play.

Speakers at the meeting, including such notorious left-wing agitators as Bernadette Devlin and Dr. Trevor Huddleston, had their hate-charged speeches interrupted by shouts of "Stand by the Whites in Africa".

A MEETING plotting the establishment of an anti-white Community Relations Council in Hitchin, Herts., was stopped by patriots.

The meeting closed down without any decision having been made when 30 National Front members and a strong contingent from the Hitchin Ratepayers' Association came into the hall and demanded a public debate on the proposed CRC.

Mr. Ken Taylor, the local National Front organiser, said that the CRC would only pamper the coloureds and pointed out that wherever CRC's had been established, they had been dominated by left-wing extremists and had been a constant drain on the rates. Mr. Taylor challenged the organisers of the meeting to a public debate. Said Mr. Taylor: "I sincerely hope that this time my challenge to a debate will not be turned down as it has in the past."

Well done!

A personal newspaper advertisement in which an Arab friend has been reported to the Race Relations Board.

The complaint was made by Mr. Alan Hancock of Brighton, a well-known British patriot. "This may eventually demonstrate publicly that the Race Relations Act is absurd and ridiculous," said Mr. Hancock.

U.S. ARMY A MENACE TO BRITAIN

THE U.S. Army Command reports that 11,000 American soldiers in Vietnam have been arrested for drug-taking. They add that for every soldier arrested, there are FIVE other habitual drug takers.

The report comes only three months after the U.S. Command in Europe announced that drug taking amongst American soldiers was seriously impairing the defence of Europe against Communism.

One thing is certain. The American Army is a hindrance rather than a help in Europe. The present policy of Britain and other European nations basing their defence policies on the basis of American support is the road to disaster.

WITHDRAW

It is time for Britain to withdraw from NATO, to expel American troops from British soil, and to create an efficient and independent armed force catering entirely for British interests.

IN VIETNAM, about 40 black American servicemen held a black power demonstration outside U.S. Army Headquarters in Saigon. Nobody was arrested, a spokesman explained, because the demonstration was held on the birthday of the late Martin Luther King, the Communist "civil rights" leader.

Cost of Europe too dear

ROAST BEEF will vanish from many dinner tables if Britain joins the Common Market.

And, a food expert forecast recently, so will butter, cheese and cream.

Dr. Maurice Ziskind, head of the Food and Agriculture Organisation, has predicted that reduced purchases of meat

BELGIANS PROVE IT...

European unity just can't work

AFTER 140 years of feuding between the Dutch speaking Catholic Flemings and the French speaking Protestant Walloons in Belgium, the Belgian Parliament has finally been forced to alter the constitution.

Belgium is now a federal rather than a unitary state. Each of the national groups will have internal self-government in their own regions.

Even this may not end the bitter rivalry between Flemings and Walloons.

The capital city, Brussels, is largely French speaking whilst the surrounding area is Flemish. Demands are now being made that each of the two nationalities should have its own capital and Brussels be demoted.

BREAK-UP

This would be the last step before the complete break-up of the Belgian state.

How ironic it is that Brussels should be the headquarters of the Common Market.

While Ministers of the "Six" and Great Britain negotiate to create a 'Union of Western Europe', outside their closed doors the failure of multi-nationalism threatens to abolish the very country in which they are plotting.

Although the governments of Europe seek to destroy national sovereignty at the behest of big finance and the international companies, reality has an unpleasant way of intruding on their schemings. Peoples are invariably more sensible than politicians.

Pakistani Murder Horror

WHEN a Pakistani's parents objected to his living with an English girl, they murdered her in front of her child, cut her up into pieces and stuffed her up a chimney, it was claimed last week.

The gruesome tale was heard at Glamorgan Assizes when the two Pakistanis were charged with murdering Mrs. Joan McLean. They already had a wife lined up for their son and disapproved of the English girl.

So, the court was told, they drove the girl to a house in Port Talbot where they strangled her in front of her five-year-old daughter. They took her body into a back bedroom and cut it into two. Then they put the pieces into a car and drove to another house in Cardiff where the body was again cut up, wrapped in wallpaper, and stuffed up the chimney.

Recognise UNO?

SEALAND, the 1½ acre silted up wartime sea-fort with a population of 100 is to apply for membership of the United Nations.

BLACK CRIME

Contd. from Page 1.

S. Africa Reds told

MORE THAN 120 members of the National Front brought a touch of sanity to a dangerous meeting in January.

The meeting, attended by 1,500 people, had been organised at the Central Hall, Westminster, to foment hatred against South Africa and the National Front members called for justice and fair play.

Speakers at the meeting, including such notorious left-wing agitators as Bernadette Devlin and Dr. Trevor Huddleston, had their hate-charged speeches interrupted by shouts of "Stand by the Whites in Africa!", "Reds Out!" and Bernadette Devlin bares teeth at NF hecklers.

"What's the price of petrol bombs?" At one stage, a loud rendering of "Rule Britannia" rang out through the hall.

The National Front members ignored constant abuse from the stewards which were largely composed of Communists, Anarchists and coloureds. One coloured steward brandishing a knife was chased out of the hall by police.

A personal newspaper advertisement in which an Arab advertised for a European girl friend has been reported to the Race Relations Board.

The complaint was made by Mr. Alan Hancock of Brighton, a well-known British patriot. "This may eventually demonstrate publicly that the Race Relations Act is absurd and ridiculous," said Mr. Hancock.

Cost of Europe too dear

ROAST BEEF will vanish from many dinner tables if Britain joins the Common Market.

And, a food expert forecast recently, so will butter, cheese and cream.

Dr. Maurice Zinkin, head of the economics and statistics department of Unilever, said that Britain's eating habits would be forced to change sharply.

"Enormous" increases in the prices of dairy products would have the biggest impact.

He told the British Cattle-breeders' Club at Cambridge that in the Common Market the housewife would have to pay more than double for butter and almost that for cheese. Cream would also rise steeply.

The result: A 50 per cent drop in cream consumption, 20 per cent less butter bought, and a 15 per cent drop in cheese eating.

FORCED

Dr. Zinkin pointed out that beef prices would go up by 30 per cent, and that we would be forced to eat less mutton and lamb.

In their place housewives would have to give their families more chicken and pork.

The full shock of the price increases would be found in 1978 if the present negotiations in Brussels succeed, and the changes in our diet would reach a peak two years later.

Some of the gap left by and independent armed force catering entirely for British interests.

IN VIETNAM, about 40 black American servicemen held a black power demonstration outside U.S. Army Headquarters in Saigon. Nobody was arrested, a spokesman explained, because the demonstration was held on the birthday of the late Martin Luther King, the Communist "civil rights" leader.

reduced purchases of meat could be filled by synthetic products.

Dr. Zinkin said that imitation meats were already being made from oil seeds. Protein could be made in future from petroleum or the waste from flour milling.

FRUIT FARMERS FACE RUIN

FRUIT GROWERS face a grim future if Britain goes into the Common Market.

James Prior, Minister of Agriculture, gave this warning to 500 members of the National Farmers Union at Maidstone, Kent — the biggest fruit producing county in Britain.

And he told them that they could expect little help from the Government.

"I must be perfectly blunt," he said, "and tell you there are very great limitations on what I can do to help horticulture. It is up to you to succeed without too much Government help."

Mr. Prior didn't seem too confident that the fruit growers would succeed for he offered to pay higher grants if the farmers dug up apple and pear trees in the near future.

BREAK-UP

This would be the last step before the complete break-up of the Belgian state.

How ironic it is that Brussels should be the headquarters of the Common Market.

While Ministers of the "Six" and Great Britain negotiate to create a 'Union of Western Europe', outside their closed doors the failure of multi-nationalism threatens to abolish the very country in which they are plotting.

Although the governments of Europe seek to destroy national sovereignty at the behest of big finance and the international companies, reality

Recognise UNO?

SEALAND, the 1 1/4 acre silted up wartime sea-fort with a population of 100 is to apply for membership of the United Nations.

British businessman Roy Bates, who owns the islet, has already issued a series of postage stamps and describes Sealand as the world's smallest country.

There is nothing in the United Nations Charter which prevents Sealand from joining. Indeed, responsible observers have noted that it might be a more valuable acquisition to the U.N. than certain African states of a similar stature.

More blacks

The Government has told Britain's new town corporations that they must increase the number of coloured people moving into their areas.

This was revealed in the Commons by Peter Walker, Minister of the Environment, who went on to say that it would be wrong to discriminate in favour of coloured immigrants but couldn't new town corporations do more to help those in greatest need?

V.D. shock

THANKS to the permissive society, venereal disease is now more common than measles in the London Borough of Sutton, the borough's health department reports.

when the two Pakistanis were charged with murdering Mrs. Joan McLean. They already had a wife lined up for their son and disapproved of the English girl.

So, the court was told, they drove the girl to a house in Port Talbot where they strangled her in front of her five-year-old daughter. They took her body into a back bedroom and cut it into two. Then they put the pieces into a car and drove to another house in Cardiff where the body was again cut up, wrapped in wallpaper, and stuffed up the chimney.

BLACK CRIME

Contd. from Page 1.

confident of further progress.

In Lambeth these lessons have been learned.

A local newspaper has a duty to inform its public of what is happening in the locality. It is a serious breach of responsibility to cover up vital facts. It is even more serious to give political trouble-makers a respect and importance to which they have no right. Most important, the police must ignore fraudulent "public opinion" manufactured by leftists who have nothing in common with real public opinion.

FRIGHTENING

These lessons were learned and acted upon. But the frightening fact remains that what has come to light in Lambeth is merely the tip of an iceberg.

This kind of situation exists in immigrant areas throughout Britain. As a result, British people are being terrorised by coloured toughs who get away with the most vicious attacks simply because the police have been sabotaged by leftists who are bolstered up by a local establishment usually led by a newspaper.

It can only be fought by the police and the public speaking up for themselves and for each other.

EDUCATION: TIME TO SORT OUT THE MESS

FROM the proposed actions of the Tories over the past few weeks, it is becoming obvious that they haven't a clue how to solve the serious problems of our education system.

A cut in public expenditure should be welcomed by all. But the current Tory proposals to take it out on the education budget surely denote an idiotic sense of priorities. The County Councils Association announces that the Government has trimmed their education budget by £27 million.

All this when the education system in Britain is in chaos.

CONDITIONS in schools are worse than ever. A nationwide survey published by the National Union of Teachers reveals schools where the ceiling is falling, where staff have to use a lavatory in a nearby cottage, and where water pours in through the roof.

STANDARDS are the worst ever. The Black Paper on Education reported that there were more illiterates leaving school today than at any time since 1901.

OVERCROWDING is now at crisis point. The suspension of the Wembley headmistress who refused to accept any more pupils because of already chronic overcrowding highlights the general state of our schools.

STAFF SHORTAGE is acute. So bad in fact that sixth formers in one London school have been asked to act as tutors. YET TORY EDUCATION MINISTER MARGARET THATCHER ANNOUNCES THAT SHE IS CONSIDERING A REDUCTION IN THE OUTPUT OF TEACHERS.

BAD

sound education, they can abuse their positions by giving lessons in political indoctrination, silly exercises in "progressive" art and psychology, and sex education.

Both the Government and the local education authorities are guilty of serious misallocation of funds. Public money must not be frittered away on useless pet schemes.

SERIOUS

Immigration, too, is a serious problem in the context of education. Overcrowding is at its worst in immigrant areas. Language problems and the sheer inability of immigrant children to learn hold back the progress of our own children.

The answer is clear and simple.

Establish sensible standards of education and lay down what a teacher can and cannot do. There can be no room for teachers who want to try out their own social experiments at the expense of the children's education.

Stop the wastage of money and put it to sensible and constructive use.

And solve the immigration problem. Until such time as the whole immigration headache can be solved by repatriation, the education authorities should take a lead in ensuring the most progressive standards by establishing separate education facilities for immigrant children.

ILL-CONCEIVED

The state of Britain's education is not going to be improved by ill-conceived Tory plans to reduce the education budget or by cutting back on the number of teachers. Education is a national priority. It is an investment in Britain's future. It should be treated as such.

is falling, where staff have to use a lavatory in a nearby cottage, and where water pours in through the roof.

STANDARDS are the worst ever. The Black Paper on Education reported that there were more illiterates leaving school today than at any time since 1901.

OVERCROWDING is now at crisis point. The suspension of the Wembley headmistress who refused to accept any more pupils because of already chronic overcrowding highlights the general state of our schools.

STAFF SHORTAGE is acute. So bad in fact that sixth formers in one London school have been asked to act as tutors. YET TORY EDUCATION MINISTER MARGARET THATCHER ANNOUNCES THAT SHE IS CONSIDERING A REDUCTION IN THE OUTPUT OF TEACHERS.

BAD

The state of education is bad — and it is not difficult to find out what has gone wrong.

Bad teachers and bad teaching methods are more to blame than we like to admit. Some teachers think that instead of giving their pupils a basic and allocation of funds. Public problems and the sheer inability of immigrant children their own social experiments at the expense of the children's is an investment in Britain's future. It should be treated as such.

Mrs. Phyllis Clarkson, headmistress of Park Lane School, Wembley, was suspended after refusing to accept more pupils into her overcrowded school. Immigration aggravates overcrowding as the photograph shows.

Britain First

Published fortnightly in support of the National Front.

Editors: Michael Lobb and Peter McMenemie.

Editorial offices: The Nationalist Centre, 10 Birkbeck Hill, London, S.E.21.
Telephone: 01-670 0118.

The real party of the British people

The National Front is Britain's fastest-growing party which says: "Put Britain and the British people first!". It is the true voice of the British people. All its policies have been proved by one public opinion poll after another to represent the views of the great majority of the British people. Find out more about the National Front by completing this form and sending it to: The Secretary, National Front, 92 Fleet Street, London, E.C.4. Please enclose 8p to cover postage.

Name

Address

.....

SUBSCRIBE NOW!

Get your BRITAIN FIRST promptly and regularly by becoming a subscriber. All copies are sent first-class mail in plain, sealed envelopes. Complete this coupon and send, with required subscription, to BRITAIN FIRST, 10 Birkbeck Hill, London, S.E.21.

Name

Address

.....

Please send me copies for 26 issues.

I enclose £

Rates: (26 issues): 1 copy: 25/-; 3 copies: £2.1s.6d;
5 copies: £2.15s.0d; 10 copies: £4.3s.0d.

ALLAUN'S HOUSING BILL A FRAUD

EXTREME left-wing Labour M.P. Frank Allaun has introduced a Bill into Parliament which, he argues, will slash the cost of council housing by five sixths.

Called the Finance of Council House Building Bill, it seeks to enable local authorities to finance the building of council houses out of their own revenue. This would, claims Allaun, eliminate the staggering cost of repaying interest which amounts to £24,000 on top of a house costing £5,000.

A great step forward, it might be thought. But it is all a fraud. True to leftist form, Allaun has said nothing.

ASTRONOMICAL

The revenue of local authorities comes from rates, government grants and loans. The total revenue, therefore, from which a local authority would finance its housing programme, would necessarily include a portion derived from commercial loans. These would still have to be repaid at the same astronomical rates of interest. The overall debt would remain the same even though it might not be directly attributable to the cost of building council houses.

Allaun's Bill, by not attacking the root causes of council indebtedness, is thus rendered totally meaningless. It is another example of how the Left tries to make out, by mere postures, that it is against finance-capitalism.

RADICAL

Clearly, what is needed is not a change in the methods of

Tories out to wreck farming

The Tory Government is out to wreck the British farmer.

That much is evident from the first cuts in agricultural subsidies announced by the Minister of Agriculture, James Prior. Prior has announced the sacking of 1,500 civil servants whose jobs were to give farmers important advice free of charge. Farmers are now asked to seek advice privately and pay for it themselves.

Over the past thirty years, British agriculture has become the most efficient and productive in the world. It has done so by the only consistently sound policy which successive Labour and Tory governments have pursued, that of agricultural subsidies.

These subsidies now total £400 million – a great deal of public money, but money which could hardly be better spent. It has resulted in increased productivity of 70% over the past thirty years in spite of the land having lost half its labour force during that period. It has resulted in food which is the cheapest in Europe – and the best. It has assured the small farmer of a guaranteed living and a continued existence in the face of big business farming and wholesaling.

ABOLITION

All this will come to an end if the Tories have their way. Prior's cuts of £15 million represent the first step towards total abolition of farming subsidies. The cuts were justified on the grounds of "free enterprise", "reducing public spending", and "abuse of free services".

These are cynical and fraudulent grounds. Tory plans mean that free enterprise will be smashed by big business and public spending will soar through increased food prices. And just what are these "abuses of free services"?

TRUTH

If the Tories could tell the truth for one moment, they would admit that farming subsidies are to be abolished because the Common Market bureaucrats demand it and because big business wants bigger profits.

The land is Britain's most precious asset and agriculture should be treated as a national priority. That farming should be left to the mercy of a fickle market is bad enough. That it should be left to the whims of a dictatorship of foreign bureaucrats is sheer treason.

COMMON MARKET A 'BARNACLE ON THE BACKSIDE OF PROGRESS'

MR. TOM WEAL, deputy leader of the Social Credit Party of New Zealand, described the Common Market as "a barnacle on the backside of progress" as he landed in

Commonwealth Conference: the real menace

IF THE Commonwealth Conference in Singapore underlined anything, it was the fact that the Commonwealth is a complete waste of time, money and effort.

It began with a mob of Commonwealth leaders bleating, threatening, cajoling, and generally making asses of themselves. If it started in loud confusion, it ended in a quieter, more imponderable confusion. The Commonwealth Conference, it can be summarised, ran true to form.

It would be impertinent to insult anybody's intelligence by commenting on the mouthings of most of the Commonwealth leaders, for the louder the speech, the less significant was the speaker.

HOT AIR

Threats to break up the Commonwealth over Britain's decision to sell arms to South Africa turned out to be a lot of hot air, regrettably. The Afro-Asian leaders responsible for all the threatening knew which side their bread was buttered, and decided not to press the matter on account of the £250 million which Britain gives to them each year.

The fantastic fact remains that it was a close run thing. Britain was on the verge of giving in to the squawkings of arms to a friendly nation in sore need of them.

That the Commonwealth Conference was a farce will not be disputed by any reasonable person. But the Commonwealth itself is far from funny: it is a very real and serious threat to British survival, because it makes a mockery of the tremendous force which is within it.

That force is the White Commonwealth consisting of Britain, Australia, Canada and New Zealand: nations which have common ties of blood, language and history. They are nations which can, together with South Africa and Rhodesia, unite to form one of the greatest powers in the world.

It is logical that they should do so because each country's interests would be advanced by such a union.

DESTROYS

The existence of the Coloured Commonwealth prevents this union. How long will it be before it destroys any chance of it? The White Commonwealth countries are already sick and tired of the abuse which they have come to expect from the Coloured Commonwealth.

If they should finally sever all ties with Britain on that account, it would be a disaster for the British world.

'Only 1,123,000!'

According to the Runnymede Trust, there are only 1,123,000 coloureds in Britain today. Even official government statistics put the num-

Snap a nude —on the rates

A STORM has blown up over an "educational course" run by Allan had said nothing.

ASTRONOMICAL

The revenue of local authorities comes from rates, government grants and loans. The total revenue, therefore, from which a local authority would finance its housing programme, would necessarily include a portion derived from commercial loans. These would still have to be repaid at the same astronomical rates of interest. The overall debt would remain the same even though it might not be directly attributable to the cost of building council houses.

Allan's Bill, by not attacking the root causes of council indebtedness, is thus rendered totally meaningless. It is another example of how the Left tries to make out, by mere postures, that it is against finance-capitalism.

RADICAL

Clearly, what is needed is not a change in the methods of financing council house building, but a radical change in the whole structure and method of local government finance.

Councils must no longer be obliged to solve their short term deficiencies by being forced to borrow from money-lenders. The huge interest debt, which can eventually amount to five times the original loan, only enables the money-lenders and financiers to line their pockets at the expense of ordinary rate-payers and residents.

The only real method of reducing interest debt is by the nationalising of the banks and finance houses. The re-establishment of public control over the nation's monetary system would help to ensure the proper allocation of capital resources and eliminate the present scandal of finance profiteering.

BULK RATES

Get BRITAIN FIRST to the people by ordering in bulk. We'll slash the price by up to 75% - or even more if necessary.

Rates: 20:6/-; 50:12s.6d; 100:£1; 1000:£5. Price exclusive of postage or rail carriage. Orders over 1000. by arrangement.

ing, untreating, cajoling, and generally making asses of themselves. If it started in loud confusion, it ended in a quieter, more imponderable confusion. The Commonwealth Conference, it can be summarised, ran true to form.

It would be impertinent to insult anybody's intelligence by commenting on the mouthings of most of the Commonwealth leaders, for the louder the speech, the less significant was the speaker.

HOT AIR

Threats to break up the Commonwealth over Britain's decision to sell arms to South Africa turned out to be a lot of hot air, regrettably. The Afro-Asian leaders responsible for all the threatening knew which side their bread was buttered, and decided not to press the matter on account of the £250 million which Britain gives to them each year.

The fantastic fact remains that it was a close run thing. Britain was on the verge of giving in to the squawkings of the irrelevant Afro-Asians and ruining relations with South Africa.

GUILTY

In resisting them, Edward Heath acted like a guilty man refusing to come to terms with his betters, rather than a man standing up for the just and righteous cause of supplying arms to a friendly nation in sore need of them.

That the Commonwealth Conference was a farce will not be disputed by any reasonable person. But the Commonwealth itself is far from funny: it is a very real and serious threat to British survival, because it makes a mockery of the tremendous force which is within it.

That force is the White Commonwealth consisting of Britain, Australia, Canada and New Zealand: nations which have common ties of blood,

'Only 1,123,000!'

According to the Runnymede Trust, there are only 1,123,000 coloureds in Britain today. Even official government statistics put the number of coloureds at well over two million, and a really truthful estimate would be around the three million mark.

The Runnymede Trust, whose director is an Indian, is one of those anonymously and officially named bodies whose numbers are on the increase and which are, in fact, agencies for the peddling of left-wing propaganda.

the greatest powers in the world.

It is logical that they should do so because each country's interests would be advanced by such a union.

DESTROYS

The existence of the Coloured Commonwealth prevents this union. How long will it be before it destroys any chance of it? The White Commonwealth countries are already sick and tired of the abuse which they have come to expect from the Coloured Commonwealth.

If they should finally sever all ties with Britain on that account, it would be a disaster for the British world.

Snap a nude —on the rates

A STORM has blown up over an "educational course" run by a local council.

For the course consists of lessons in nude photography.

It is run by the London Borough of Newham at a residential centre. A local vicar has attacked the course as "pornography under the cover of education". Many local ratepayers have complained that the course is run out of the rates.

truth for one moment, they would admit that farming subsidies are to be abolished because the Common Market bureaucrats demand it and because big business wants bigger profits.

The land is Britain's most precious asset and agriculture should be treated as a national priority. That farming should be left to the mercy of a fickle market is bad enough. That it should be left to the whims of a dictatorship of foreign bureaucrats is sheer treason.

COMMON MARKET A 'BARNACLE ON THE BACKSIDE OF PROGRESS'

MR. TOM WEAL, deputy leader of the Social Credit Party of New Zealand, described the Common Market as "a barnacle on the backside of progress" as he landed in Britain.

Mr. Weal was visiting Britain to "lend a shoulder" to people in Britain opposed to entry into the Common Market.

He warned of the sinister implications of political union with Europe, and said that British government institutions would be relegated to the role of a Borough Council office.

DISGRACEFUL! Mao's hatchet men wined and dined by Labour Party

Chinese Reds pictured with shifty-eyed Labour official at Transport House.

MEMBERS of the Red China Mission in London (Remember, they attacked policemen and bystanders, with axes not long ago) made their first official outing for years recently.

Where to? The Labour Party headquarters in Smith Square, London. They were wined and dined by Labour politicians including James Callaghan, Denis Healey and Anthony Wedgwood Benn.

Later, there were talks in private "about policy". It was all warm smiles and handshakes.

And no mention of Britons attacked, arrested and jailed in China.